

Name of the street, square or avenue

In European societies giving the name of the street, square or avenue in which you live does not seem to cause any problems. In many African countries, however, not every street has a name. To indicate a house or building, one may have descriptions such as near to.../ next to... or creative descriptions of the house's owner: where the ... live(s).